We never know how one small invitation might change someone's story... until we offer it.

Discussion Questions:

1. When was the last time someone wouldn't take "no" for an answer and you gave in? What tipped the scale? The outcome?
2. What fears or assumptions tend to make you hesitate when it comes to inviting someone to church or starting a faith conversation?
3. Read Acts 26:28–29 aloud.

Then Agrippa said to Paul, "Do you think that in such a short time you can persuade me to be a Christian?"

Paul replied, "Short time or long—I pray to God that not only you but all who are listening to me today may become what I am, except for these chains."

Paul could have been rejected or ridiculed, yet he spoke boldly. What do you think allowed him to push past the fears, pride, or assumptions that often hold us back?

4. During the message, did anyone come to mind whom you've considered inviting or engaging in a conversation about faith but haven't?
5. What's your best next step? What's the downside? Upside?
