

THE RESPONSIBLES

Looking Back

Sometimes we have to go back to move forward.

Discussion Questions:

1. Were you raised to believe that God forgets a sin once we confess a sin? If so, did that serve as a deterrent against or justification for repeat behavior?
2. Has anyone ever come back to you to acknowledge a mess they left you with? If so, how did it affect you?
3. Read Luke 19:1–10 aloud in your group. How does the idea of not only making things right, but giving back more than was taken, strike you? In what ways can that inspire us?
4. How do you think refusing to address past mistakes might hinder your ability to move forward in life?
5. Is your past irresponsibility currently someone's responsibility? What do you need to do? What's holding you back?
